BREAKING QUARANTINE?

Have Officers of the Kilpatrick Landed?

QUEER ACTIONS OF SHIP'S BOAT

Passengers are Seen at Dusk to Row From Transport to Waikiki.

Every evening since the Kilpatrick has been in quarantine for smallpox outside, just about dusk of each day, a boat has left the side of the transport laden with officers and their wives and, rowed by soldiers, has gone to Waikiki.

The boat goes near the Castle residence and then makes its way toward shore.

On one day it was about half past five o'clock in the evening that the boat was seen to leave the side. On some days it was a little later. It is still light at the time of the departure but when the boat gets about opposite the Castle residence it is dusk, just beginning to be dark. It is not known—or told—ashore when the boat returns.

Said a well known waterfronter to an Advertiser reporter yesterday, "I have been wondering what a boat was doing between the Kilpatrick and Waikiki every evening during the last week or more since the transport has been in quarantine. Last night one of the Kilpatrick's boats was lowered from the vessel's side and, manned by soldiers, was taken in the direction of Waikiki, as far as the Castle residence. I saw it that far. After that it became too dark for me to see whether the boat was put ashore. I was outside of the harbor at the time, and saw a number of officers and ladies go from the transport to the boat. I did not see the boat come back.

"I think that something ought to be done about this for if the officers and their wives are really coming ashore against the quarantine regulations, as they certainly seem to be doing, they ought to be stopped, otherwise we are likely to have an epidemic of smallpox in Honolulu, and all on account of the selfishness of a few people who ought to set an example of obedience and discipline to the thousand soldiers on the ship.

"I would also like to say something about the manner in which the sick men who are sent to the quarantine island from the Kilpatrick, suffering with the measles, are treated.

"They are lowered into a boat and left to lie there in the hot sun, the boat meanwhile pounding around against the side of the transport, until the quarantine launch goes out to tow it to the landing at quarantine island. Unsheltered from the sun, not even provided with a mattress or anything comfortable on which to lie while being yanked along through the water, it is a wonder that any of the men recover from their sickness. Sometimes the sick men have to lie alongside the transport, in the small boat, half an hour or more, waiting for the launch. I have seen this with my own eyes and know what I am talking about.

"The whole matter has been badly managed. When the transport first came here and smallpox was found aboard, after the cases had been removed to the island, the troops should also have been placed on the quarantine island, the ship's crew remaining aboard while the vessel was thoroughly fumigated. Then the transport could have come up to the wharf and taken on water and coal, all she wanted, in a couple of days and gotten away about her business."

Three more soldiers, suffering with measles, were taken from the transport yesterday and landed at the quarantine island.

On Saturday one man, troubled with a fistula, was taken from the ship. There are at present thirty-five patients at the hospital on Quarantine Island. Three are smallpox patients and are doing well. The rest are measles patients with the one exception named.

THE PRE-ARRANGED BURGLARY

George Robinson Gives His Side of the Story.

To the Honolulu Public: On April 13, 1901, there appeared in the Pacific Commercial Advertiser an article the tenor of which was to accuse me of attempting to form a conspiracy with the aid of certain Chinese in committing a burglary.

I deem it my duty to myself and my friends at this time to make an explanation of the whole affair and challenge contradiction from any person or persons who dare to come forward and say the facts hereinafter stated are not true in every particular.

Some time ago a Chinese boy in my employ was approached by another Chinese and informed that, for a consideration, he would furnish him with proof of a certain person making a business of breaking and entering stores in and about Chinatown. After due deliberation I employed this Chinaman to see if he could arrange matters so the police and myself could be at some appointed place and catch these burglars.

Two days thereafter the man came to me and told me he had made the arrangement for me to say what place should be robbed.

I named the place, a Japanese store on Nuuanu street, that I and not Mr. Bowers am paid to guard, time and manner and at once called upon the Deputy Sheriff, stated the facts to him and asked him to be with me to assist in the capture.

He accepted my offer and on the night the affair was to have taken place he and myself hid ourselves in the back yard of the store and remained there over two hours.

These are the facts as they were, and they were not done with any intention of ruining Mr. Bowers or any one else and the method used is one used by all the police of the world.
